FINDINGS:

Ford Motor Company Wayne Integrated Stamping and Assembly failed to renew their electrical affidavit before it expired 12-31-2006. The facility had held the affidavit license since 2004. The contractor of record on the affidavit was transferred to another facility and the affidavit renewal sent to this plant was never processed. The facility discovered that their electrical affidavit had lapsed late in 2007, when an employee of the plant contacted the electrical division about hours needed to qualify for the journeyman examination. The employee was told the facility license had lapsed and he went to his supervisor to inquire about the problem. The electrical division subsequently received a phone call from Mr. Bliss. I spoke with Mr. Bliss and explained that a recent Michigan Court of Appeals decision ruled that the electrical affidavit was not valid. I instructed Mr. Bliss to submit the renewal application and once the department had a resolution to the issue we would process the renewal. The company submitted the renewal promptly and as soon as we were able to issue the facility contractors license their application was processed. The electrical division believes the company acted in good faith and that the employees licensed and registered with the department who work at this facility should be granted the time accumulated from January 1, 2007, through May 25, 2008. The master of record was employed by and actively in charge of electrical installations at the facility during the time frame in question as required by the act and the board rules. The plant has made changes to help assure that the facilities license renewal application will be promptly handled in the future.

RECOMMENDATION:

Staff recommends that time accumulated by the apprentice and journeyman electricians working for the Ford Motor Company Wayne Integrated Stamping and Assembly facility, while the affidavit was expired, should be credited towards their State of Michigan journey and master electrical examinations.

To Whom It May Concern

I am requesting a hearing at the August board meeting to address a problem that has developed regarding the expiration of the facilities Electrical Affidavit at our plant.

Briefly, our affidavit expired in January 2007 without our realization. This happened because our point of contact was reassigned to another facility and we never received our renewal notice. As soon as we became aware of this in November 2007 we began the process of renewing the Affidavit. Part of the process was to reassign our point of contact to another person so that we could receive the renewal application. Some time during this process, the Court ruling took place and everything went on hold. We have now received our Facility Contractor License but during the time that we were not licensed our Apprentice and Journeymen Electricians were not accruing time toward their ability to either test for their Journeyman or Masters License. I will be requesting that the board grant leniency and allow the time when the Affidavit was expired to be counted toward the licensing requirements.

Respectfully,

EL/ao

To Evie Livingston,

My name is James J. Lynch I spoke with you last week about my application for the electrical exam being denied. I attempted to fax you a copy of the documents you requested but I cannot connect to your fax machine. I'm unable to secure a letter from Manley Electrical Contractors Inc. I left the company on bad terms with the owner Bret Manley (773) 491-3027. Mainly it was over me taking a new position with the company I work for at this time as there Midwest supervising electrician. The bulk of my experience was gained while working for Manley Elec. I started with them in 97' and work there till 06'. I was never laid off for any reason so if you consider the amount of time I was there not including OT. I have acquired over 18,000 hours with just Manley and during that time I acquired 3 of the 5 licenses I currently hold. Manley Electric has been against me securing licenses and my growth in the electrical field. That was one of the main reasons I left Manley. I don't have any of Manley Electrics License information or Bret Manley's license numbers. The state of Illinois doesn't require an apprenticeship for electricians or Journey man. Each municipality sets up its own testing requirements and so on. Some parts of the state don't even require licensing. Most of the requirements for the licenses I hold were based on years of experience and proof of employment. Mainly the check stubs and w-2's were enough to suffice this requirement. If this is not enough information to meet your qualifications to take your exam I would like to request an appointment with the Electrical Division to hear my case. Again there is no possible way Manley Electric will write me a letter or help me gain acceptance to this test. I know I've meet the requirements of line 1 of the denial letter but line 2,3 & 4 are based on my previous employer that is not willing to work with me or provide me with necessary information.

Thank you,

James J. Lynch

Qualifications for Examination: A person applying for a master electrician certification examination shall have at least 1,000 hours per year of experience for at least 7 years in electrical construction work. If the experience you gained spanned more than 12 consecutive months use a separate row for each 12 month period. The Time Period does not have to be consecutive years from one row to the next. In the Time Period column fill in the beginning month and year and the ending month and year in which the experience hours were completed. In the Experience Hours column fill in the number of hours claimed for that time period but do not record more than 1000 hours in the column even if you worked more than 1000 hours. If the hours were witnessed by more than one person, the hours witnessed by each person must be filled in on separate rows. The witness must have observed or had knowledge of the number for work hours performed in electrical construction. Electrical construction means the installation of electrical wiring. James J. Lynch
2631 Stanton Circle
Lake In The Hills, IL 60156

Hi my name is James J. Lynch, I've been in the electrical field since I could remember. My father was a local 134 IBEW electrician in Chicago as my grand-father and uncle. I attended DeVry University till 1995 and during that time I worked as an apprentice with Manley Electrical Contractors which at that time was working under a license from outside of the company. I graduated DeVry and pursued a position in electronics which led me to BanCare Inc. I worked there for 2 years servicing pneumatic drive-up machines, ATM's, CCTV, burglar alarms, fire alarms, safes and vaults. After deciding I preferred construction work, I went back to work at Manley Electrical as a journeyman electrician. After 3 or 4 years of working under other companies licensing I decided to pursue licensing myself. I acquired my Downers Grove license first and then my Orland Park license. Both tests were based on the NEC. After having my Downers Grove license for 2 years I qualified to take the Chicago Supervising Electrician test, which I passed on my first attempt. After a year with the Chicago license and constant argument with the owner at Manley Electrical over proper electrical practice and code I decided to look for an opportunity with a company that would respect my opinion as the supervising electrician and wanted to maintain the same high standards for its electrical installations that I expect. This led me to Lane Valente Industries which is primarily a retail service company. In the year I have been here I have acquired my Wisconsin and Ohio Master Electricians licenses. The Wisconsin test was based on the 2005 NEC and was given by the state of Wisconsin. The Ohio test was also based on the 2005 NEC and was issued by the ICC.

I believe that I meet the requirements to take the electrical exam and would appreciate the chance to show you the high quality work that I perform. I have enclosed letters from people that know the type of work I perform and expect. I would submit a signed letter from my former employer (Manley Electrical), but the owner and I don't have a good relationship at this time.

James J. Lynch has work with us as the supervising electrician for just over a year now and I feel he is one of the most qualified electricians we have across the country. Presently he manages electrical crews here in the Midwest and he gives technical assistance to crews around the country. He has designed and supervised electrical installations in the Midwest and has done a terrific job with maintaining Lane Valente's high standard of work that we offer to our clients. He has worked a total of 3000 hours since he was hired in December of 2006; and I feel he is more than qualified to take the Michigan Electrical Exam.
